Foreword

THE title, "THE PURPLE PIRATE," was inspired in part by our adventures among the "Pirates of Penzance" and in part by our journey along the rocky shores and over the rough waters of the Sea of Knowledge. It is our hope that "The Purple Pirate" will provide its readers with a treasure chest filled with golden memories of the many happy hours we have spent together.

MR. ROY M. STROUT
Principal of Pittsfield High School

Dedication

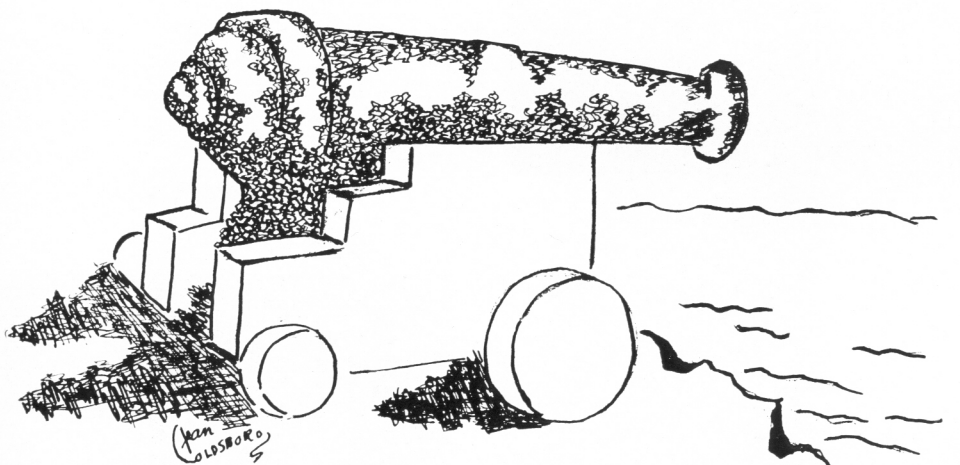

TO Mr. Strout, the Class of 1941 dedicates this book in affection and gratitude for the twenty years of steadfast service he has rendered our school, and with the sincere hope that for many years to come he may continue to inspire in his students the same high ideals which he has instilled in us.

MR. MILON J. HERRICK

Class Adviser

Mr. Herrick has proved himself a true friend to all of us. His unfailing interest in our activities, his ready co-operation, and his wise guidance will long be remembered by the Class of 1941.

THE SEAT OF AUTHORITY

MR. ROY M. STROUT

Principal

A wise and able leader.

MISS NELLIE JOYCE PARKER

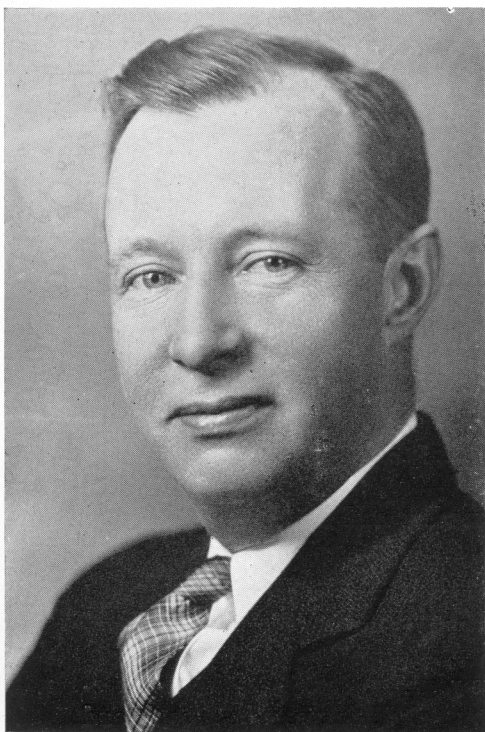

Dean of Girls

A kind and helpful counsellor in any difficulty.

MR. JOHN F. MORAN

Vice Principal

A firm yet congenial disciplinarian, who holds the respect of every boy.

MR. ARTHUR P. GOODWIN

Vice Principal

A master of the many responsibilities which fall upon his shoulders.

MISS ALICE E. DOWNS

Teacher of English at Pittsfield High School 1915-1941

We sing the praises of a teacher, modest and unaffected, kind and helpful, conscientious and considerate. She did her work well and took pride in the doing of it,—in perfect fairness, with complete understanding, and sound judgment. Thus did she lessen the difficulties of learning and add to its interest.

To a teacher whom we shall always remember with gratitude, affection, and esteem, we pay tribute. May her future years be many and happy.

RICHARD DRUM, 1923—1939

*Death does not end our friendship true,
We all are debtors to the dead;
There, wait on everything we do
The splendid souls who've gone ahead.
To them I hold that we are bound
By double pledges to be fine.
Who once has had a friend has found
The link 'twixt mortal and divine.*

Alma Mater Song

By ESTHER KIERSTEAD '38 and FRIEND KIERSTEAD, JR. '39

Tune: "All Through The Night."

Guardian elm trees cast their shadows
O'er thy ivied walls;
Sons and daughters ever loyal
Throng thy honored halls.
Pittsfield High School, Pittsfield High School,
Alma Mater dear,
Help us to preserve thy honor
Through each coming year.

Great has been thy former record,
Greater will it be,
As the future generations
Sing their praise to thee.
Proud are we who through thy portals
Into life do pass;
Help us ever to be worthy,
Each and every class.
Pittsfield High School, Pittsfield High School,
Alma Mater dear,
Help us to preserve thy honor
Through each coming year.

What Americanism Means to Me

(Maplewood Institute Prize Essay)

GERALDINE SHEEHAN

THERE are certain words in the English language to which no particular definition can be ascribed as representing everyone's interpretation of them. There are words which, when heard by different people, present a distinct picture to each, evoked out of personal experience. There are words which have a special meaning for each American. One such word is AMERICANISM.

What does Americanism mean to me? Well, when I think of Americanism, I think first of the Declaration of Independence, wherein lies the very birth of Americanism, and in which it was declared that "all men are created equal, having certain inalienable rights,—life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." I think of the Constitution of the United States, that sturdy foundation upon which Americanism is based; that sacred trust created by my forefathers to make sure that for generations to come this nation would be a haven for a free people. My hard-working, self-sacrificing ancestors wanted to make sure that I would enjoy, as so few peoples today enjoy, the right to a trial by jury, the right to be secure in my home with no search except by court warrant, the right of free speech, the right and responsibility of a free press, the right to peaceable assembly and petition, the right of habeas corpus, and the right to worship God as my conscience dictates.

What does Americanism mean to me? Briefly, it means live and let live. It means a way of life, an experiment in democracy. It means the ruling voice of the people, greater than government. It means the spirit of freedom at work in a country where self-government reigns supreme. It means that, by trial and error, I can assist in making my laws and in amending them. It means that I have a voice in choosing my own leaders and in changing them frequently in the hope of finding better ones. By this system the door is opened to deceit and betrayal, to exploitation and robbery; nevertheless, under this imperfect system, the American people have become a greater, a happier, and a more prosperous people than any other nation that ever lived under any system on this earth.

What does Americanism mean to me? It means the movement away from superiority and snobbery; away from the belief that one race is better than all others; away from a political order with militaristic and imperialistic tendencies; a movement toward freedom, culture, and originality. It means the spirit of a great people with a sense of humor that allows me to laugh at my leaders without jeopardizing my personal safety. I respect my fellowmen; I fear neither king nor conqueror; I bend my knee to God, alone.

What does Americanism mean to me? It means the maximum independence of the individual and minimum of social control by organized society. Under our American way of life, domination by the individual or the organization is seldom attempted and never countenanced. The assumption of superiority by the privileged classes is not tolerated here in America. The American people still adhere to the teachings of the authors of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

What does Americanism mean to me? When I hear the word Americanism, I think of Patrick Henry's immortal words, "Give me liberty, or give me death." Because our forefathers thought that freedom was worth more to them than life, they fought fiercely for it and earned it at a terrific cost. I believe that most of us, if called upon, would gladly do the same, if necessary, to uphold those principles of Americanism, that they may be imparted to our children and our children's children. Without liberty, life is a humdrum, monotonous, worthless routine.

What does Americanism mean to me? It means the merging of hundreds of nationalities, forming a national companionship, a brotherhood of men. It is not the fact that so many different kinds of people are working and living in America that makes it so remarkable, but the way they get along together, making little sacrifices for each other, trusting each other. Some of these have left the lands of their birth because of oppression and have come to this land with hopes for freedom and a chance to start life again. With tears in their eyes, they gaze upon the Statue of Liberty, on the pedestal of which are these words for all immigrants to read and remember:

*"Give me your tired, your poor,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free;
Send these, the homeless, the tempest-tossed, to me.
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."*

What does Americanism mean to me? It means a land which is rich, not in palaces, nor traditions, nor old family titles, but in opportunity, progressiveness, individualism. Here in America I can carve out my own career. My opportunity is limited only by what are conceived to be the rights of others. The standard of living I can maintain and the remuneration I can receive for services honestly rendered are unequalled throughout the world.

What does Americanism mean to me? Its meaning is being made manifest to me every day, especially at this period of history when it is possible for me to contrast the way of life I enjoy with that of people of other countries. Some of us are born to Americanism; some adopt it. I was born to it, and I fear I have taken my country far too much for granted. I am trying to understand and appreciate the privileges with which I was presented by my democratic government. Having seen the unrest and oppression and aggression that are now let loose in the world, my indifferent attitude is challenged. With God's help, I will meet the challenge that each day brings.

What does Americanism mean to me? Well, it means so very much that I feel it must endure forever; and, in order that it may endure forever, belief in it is essential. A nation that firmly believes in its chosen way of life cannot be corrupted, cannot fall. Today, an element exists that is trying to corrupt this democracy in which I take so much pride. I must endeavor to do my part to discourage and overcome this tendency. Because of my love for Americanism, it is my earnest prayer that it may be the way of life for Americans for all time. No such magnificent inheritance has ever yet been received by any people on earth from any hand but Heaven.

What does Americanism mean to me? Why, it means everything!

History of the Class of 1941

September 9, 1938—We begin our life at P. H. S. The upperclassmen in this school are certainly big!

September 10, 1938—Mr. Strout holds the first assembly. We're warned not to take seniors' advice. I wonder why?

September 11, 1938—Mm-mm, I see what he means.

September 14, 1938—Three students, lost in the halls over the week-end, were found this morning in a sad state due to hunger and over-exposure.

September 15, 1938—School well under way. Everybody swears—on two hours of homework, that is.

September 17, 1938—Upperclassmen are all changing study halls to be with the cute sophs. (That's us!)

September 21, 1938—Sophomore girls discover showers were put in gym for decorative purposes only.

September 30, 1938—End of month. We know all there is to know about high school.

October 1, 1938—Well, almost all.

October 4, 1938—Song of the week—"B. I. Bickey Bye."

October 12, 1938—Somebody discovers a place called America. We have a day's vacation.

October 27, 1938—Martians attack the earth. We have a good excuse for not doing our homework.

October 31, 1938—Ghosts and goblins!

November 10, 1938—Report cards. 'Nuff said.

November 23, 1938—Everyone going without lunch in order to have money to bet on the Pittsfield—St. Joe game. Pittsfield favored to win.

November 25, 1938—We do!

November 26, 1938—Try to collect.

December 10, 1938—Sophs put their gum in the basket on the installment plan. A little now and a little when you get caught again.

December 15, 1938—Vacation almost here!

December 18, 1938—We write our letters to Santa.

December 25, 1938—Small boys who didn't get what they wanted for Christmas throw snowballs at Mr. Gorman.

January 3, 1939—Back after Christmas vacation. Halls are littered with broken resolutions.

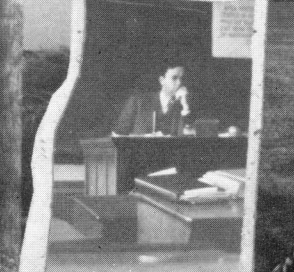

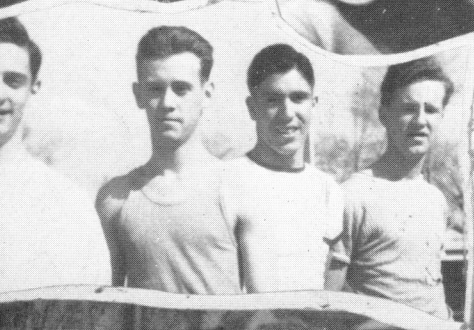

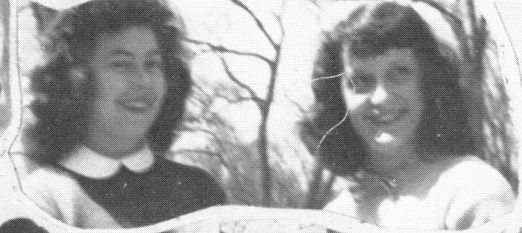

January 10, 1939—We're all learning to ski. Bandaged arms, legs, etc. appear on all sides.

January 18, 1939—Today the last Senior—Soph romance died a natural death and was buried with due honors. Mid-year graduation.

January 24, 1939—We find that lollypops are more appropriate at basketball games than in study hall.

February 14, 1939—No romance—only comic valentines.

February 17, 1939—Only 299 more shopping days until Christmas.

- February 25, 1939—Report cards, and a week's vacation in which to recover.
- March 12, 1939—Knee socks! Bows! Short skirts! What is this—a kindergarten?
- March 17, 1939—Orange and green! Mr. Carey breaks all time record for putting students out of class.
- March 23, 1939—S. S. G. is the talk of the school.

- November 28, 1940—Thanksgiving Day. Too full to write.
- December 10, 1940—Leap Year is almost over. It's now or never, girls!
- December 20, 1940—One more day until vacation.
- January 1, 1941—Leap Year is over. The boys come out of hiding.

January 5, 1941—One more day until we go back to school.

January 6, 1941—We're back!

January 7, 1941—We're out with the flu. Unofficial vacation declared.

January 21, 1941—"Watch the birdie!" We have our pictures taken.

February 13, 1941—First night of the "Pirates of Penzance." It's nautical—but nice!

February 14, 1941—Report cards! Valentines! Second night of operetta! Proofs of our pictures! Boys leave for General Electric apprentice course! This is the biggest day in the history of the high school.

February 18, 1941—We mourn the loss of fifteen members of our class who enter the G. E. Apprentice Course. The G. E. even took our president.

February 21, 1941—Some student must have devised the eight-week system!

March 5, 1941—We win the second of three basket ball games with our rivals St. Joe.

March 14, 1941—The Students' Pen wins a first place in National Press Contest at Columbia.

March 20, 1941—Cap and gown fittings offer opportunity for getting out of at least four classes a day.

April 5, 1941—We study in earnest. Graduation time draws near.

April 6, 1941—If you can't skip when you're a senior, when can you skip?

April 14, 1941—Gyp! We don't get an Easter vacation.

April 25, 1941—That's more like it!

May 12, 1941—Seven thousand and five hundred minutes left to school!

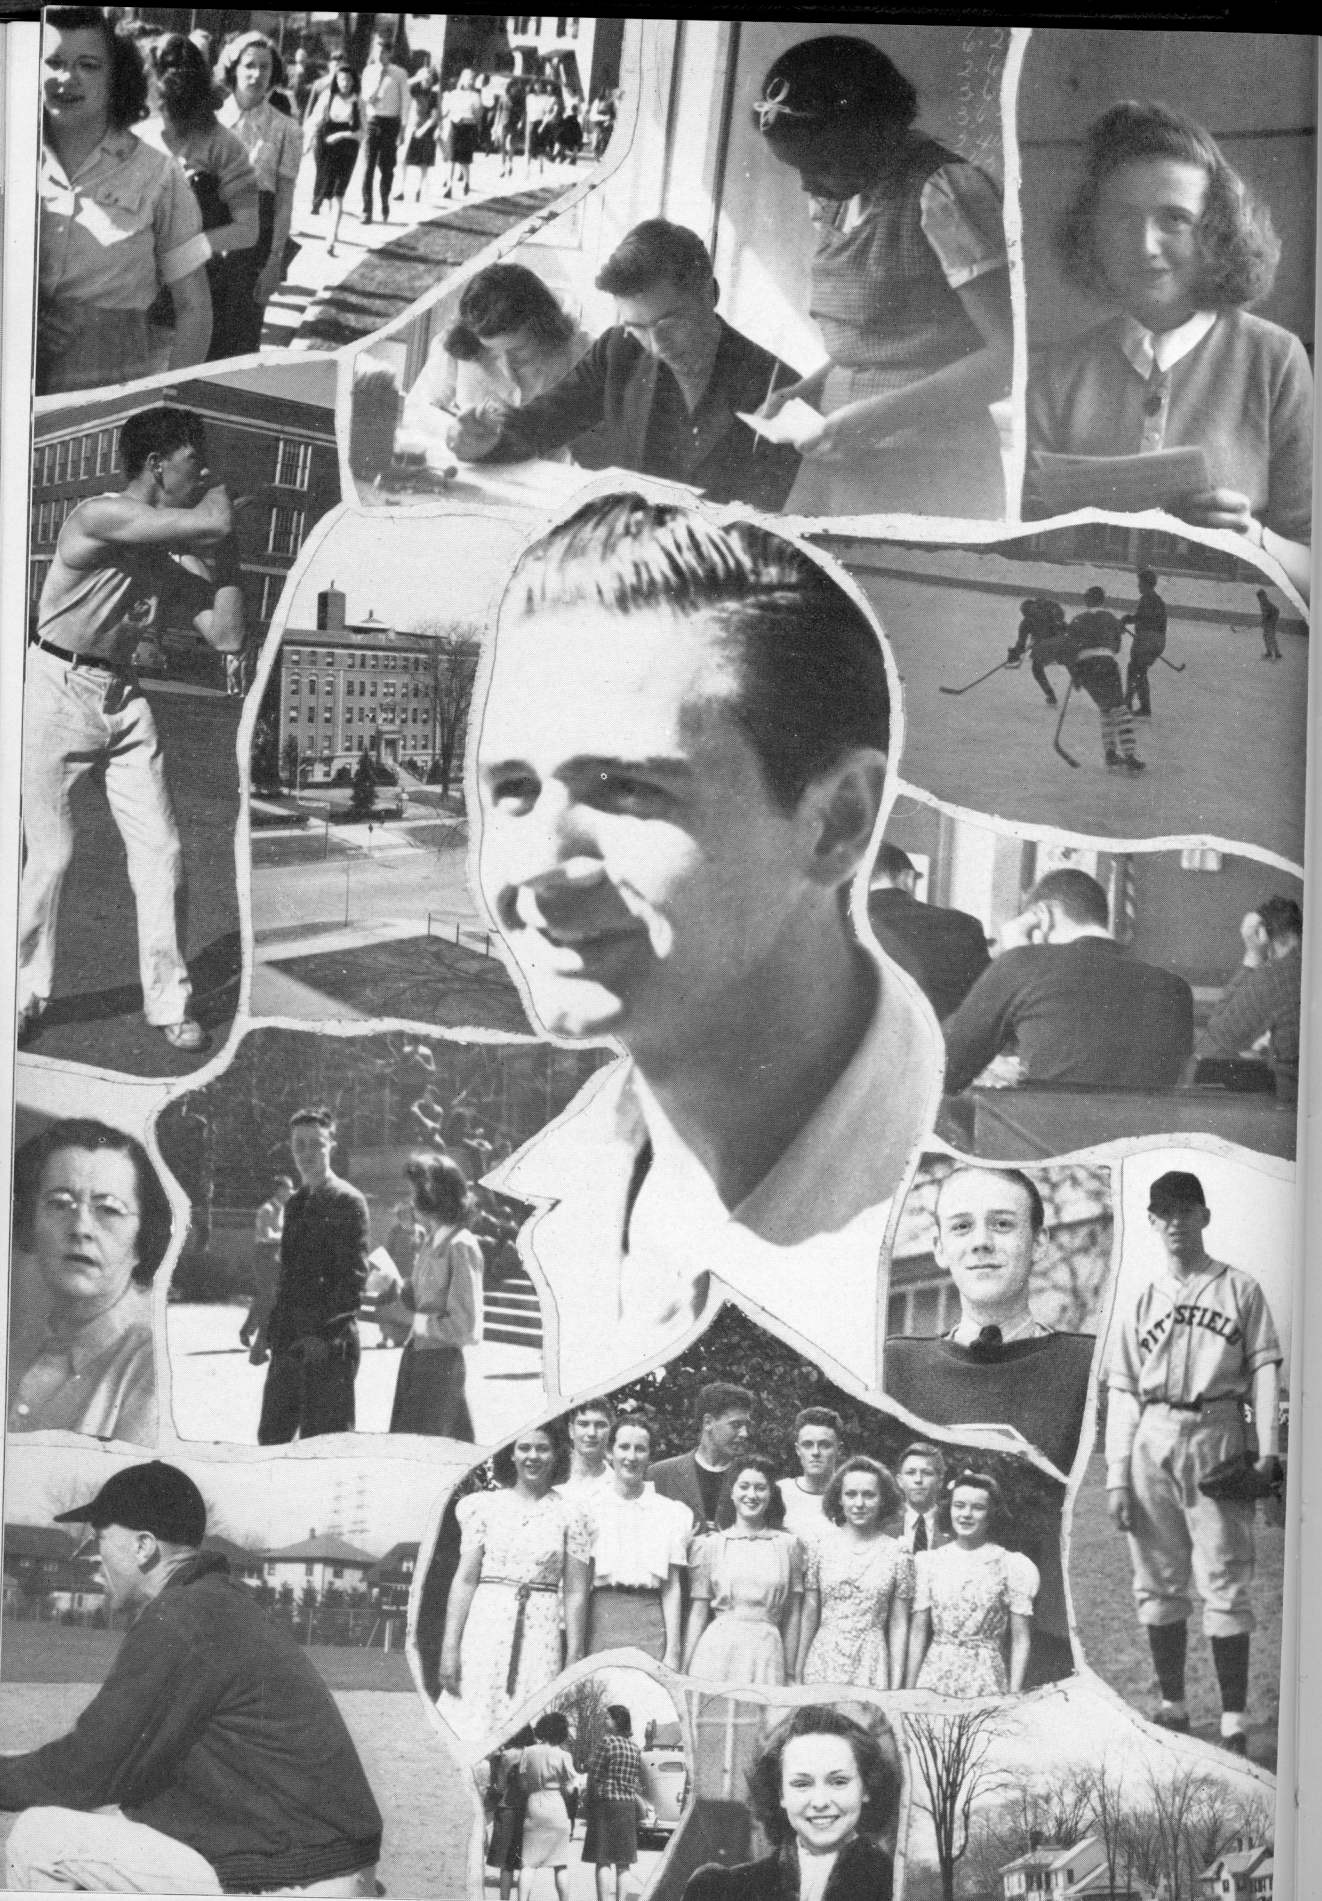

June 1, 1941—Only fifteen more days, and then we'll be on our own. Disgusting— isn't it?

June 5, 1941—Class Historians—that witty committee—are tearing out their hair trying to think of a joke for June 6.

June 6, 1941—Ah, well, we tried!

June 10, 1941—Class Day. We decide that it's no fun to cut classes—legally.

June 15, 1941—Graduation. And so we bid a fond farewell to our teachers, who did their best to educate us; to our underclassmen, the juniors, who will take our place; and to the sophomores, whom we educated in the art of self-defense; and, most of all, to the school where we spent so many happy hours. Pittsfield High School, we salute you!

Class Will

HAIL, fellow pirates. We, the Purple Pirates of 1941, after having taken into full consideration the contents of our treasure chest and being of sound mind and body, do bequeath the following booty:

To

Mr. Strout—a whistle to blow at the fairer sex that come to lecture at P. H. S.

Miss Parker—a large jar of Vicks Vapo-Rub to use when those glands begin to swell.

Mr. Herrick—the hearts of all the senior girls, and the best wishes of the senior boys.

Mr. Geary—a history book dealing with the real, underlying cause of the German defeat in the last World War. (Was it oil, Mr. Geary?)

Mr. Herberg—a real, real aeroplane.

Miss Kaliher—a monkey-wrench to adjust her classroom seats when needed.

Miss Pfeiffer—a mechanical self-constructing dummy for the Students' Pen.

Mr. Innis—a sound proof room with pen, ink, and paper galore to write a book on this disastrous younger generation, and what we ought to do about it.

Miss Jordan—a pair of bunny-fur mittens.

Mr. Moran—a large supply of tardy-slips, and an efficient secretary to distribute them.

Coach Carmody—an outline for a “pep” talk that really brings results.

Coach Stewart—a basket ball team that can win at least five games a season.

Mr. Joyce—a twin “Mike” explicitly for the radio guild.

Miss Kennedy—a fool-proof mark book.

Miss Bulger—loads and loads of new stamps.

Miss Casey—a package of chewing gum.

Mr. Conroy—a whistle that plays a tune.

Mr. Carey—a private golf course on which to improve his already too, too divine game.

Miss Enright—a supply of English-Shorthand dictionaries containing a sufficient number of large words to last at least one term for her bewildered students.

Mr. Hennessey—a doorkeeper's job at 110.

Mr. Lynch—a yard stick that won't break, or perferably, pupils with softer heads.

Mr. McGovern—a gavel for the next president of the Debating Club.

Miss McLaughlin—a trunk packed full of costumes for the girls' gym exhibition.

Miss Millet—a special electric eye arrangement at the door of the cafeteria to detect smuggled candy.

- Mr. Murray*—a dummy policeman to help him direct student traffic in the corridors.
- Mr. Reagan*—a private treasury system (he's going to need one for THAT Junior Class).
- Miss Downs*—a silver plaque for her home-room engraved with the motive for building P. H. S.
- Miss Musgrove*—a contract to appear on Broadway.
- Mr. Gorman*—three girl cheer-leaders to inspire the football team and the band.
- Mr. Leahy*—an inconspicuous place on which to ski.
- Miss Nagle*—a horse with a gait like a rocking-chair.
- Mr. McKenna*—a cushioned desk especially for his feet.
- Sophomore Girls*—our baggy blue gym suits.
- All the "sophies"*—an engraved invitation to visit the fourth floor.
- The Juniors*—an opera score as good as ours.
- Miss Rhoades*—Well, what does she want? Answer: A man.
- Miss Morris*—at least one year without a springtime.
- Miss McNaughton*—an orchid, and honor-bound girls in the shower room.
- Mr. Goodwin*—all our jokes, good and bad.
- Mr. Sheridan*—a roller skating rink for a classroom, complete with shoe-skates.
- Mr. Holly*—a tabulating machine to count tickets and returns.
- Miss Daly*—two angels in place of Gilson and Athans.
- Mr. Davidson*—a few birdies to distribute throughout his golf score.
- Miss Madden*—a new modernized kitchen with robots to do the work.
- Miss Haylon*—a miniature bowling alley.
- Mr. Larrie Murphy*—a Stradivarius.
- Mr. Charles Murphy*—a bellows to help in playing the sax and clarinet.
- Miss Nugent*—more capable commercial students.
- Miss Riley*—girls who don't think patterns are ready to wear.
- Mr. Joseph McMahon*—a copy of "How to Win Friends and Influence People."
- Miss Baker*—a sneak preview of the future map of the world.
- Mr. Hayes*—a brown suit.

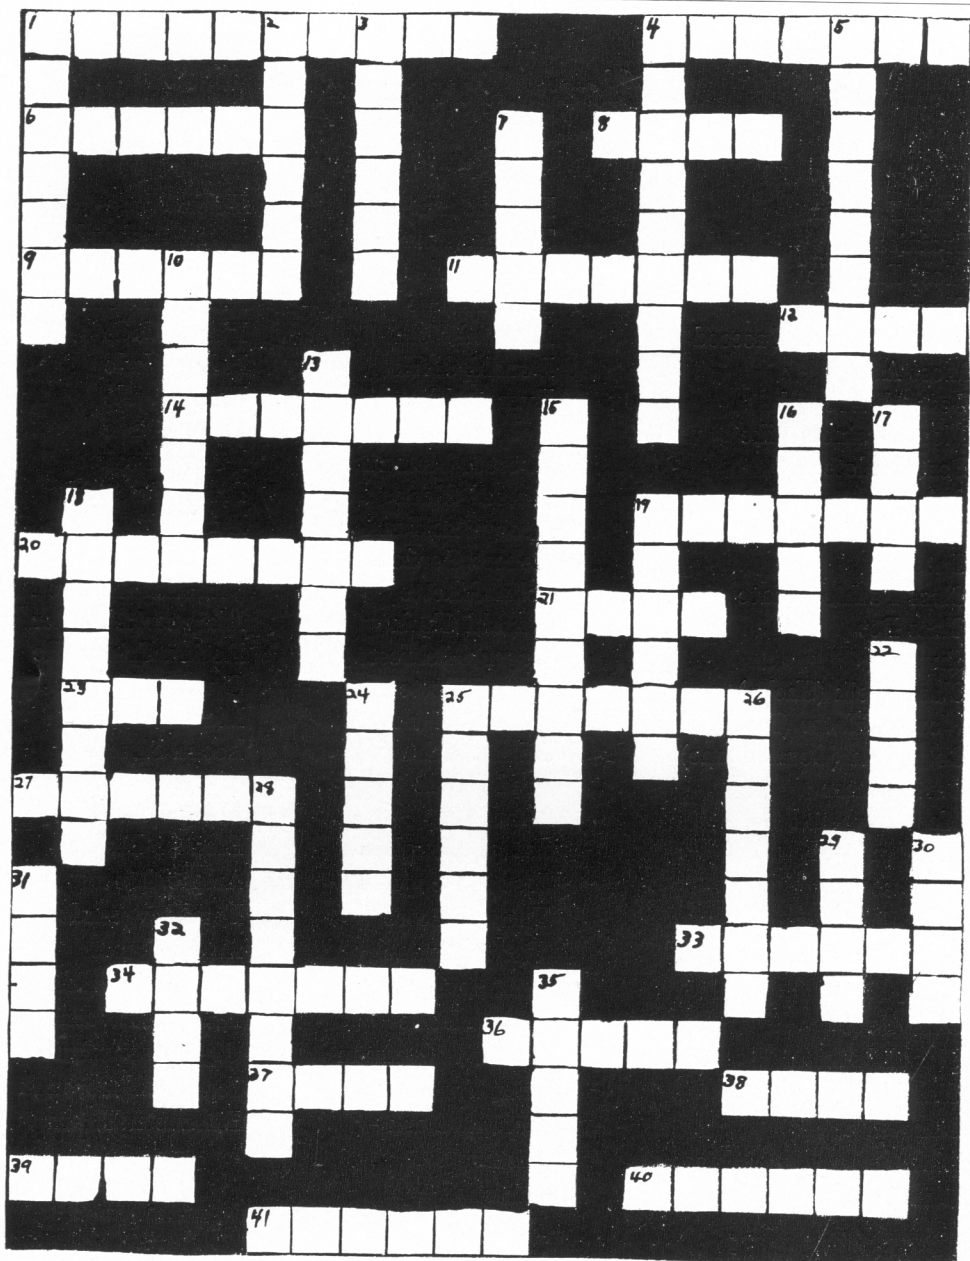

And so it is, the Purple Pirates of 1941, do carefully distribute the spoils of our three years of plundering. Cursed be he who lets the loot of our labors go astray.

Signed, sealed, and sworn to on this fifteenth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-one A. D. before the following witnesses:

YEHUDI, LONG JOHN SILVER,
and 542 PURPLE PIRATES.

Sharpen Your Pencils and Your Wits

Here's an opportunity
For Nineteen forty-one
To test your skill at puzzles
And have a little fun.

It isn't very difficult,
Just do it bit by bit;
Do one across and then one down.
It's meant to test your wits.

How Well Do You Know Your Classmates????

The Pirates of Penzance

AFTER long months of anticipation, the Class of 1941 presented on February thirteenth and fourteenth, the third of a series of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, "The Pirates of Penzance." Excitement prevailed throughout the whole building. In the music room, the customary din of instruments being tuned could be heard as the musicians prepared to take their places in the pit. In the dressing rooms, the cast and chorus were being transformed from familiar schoolmates to pirates, policemen, and beautiful maidens. At the door, the ushers and doormen, the former brilliant in vari-colored costumes, and the latter resplendent in suave tuxedos, met the enthusiastic opera-goers. At eight-ten the orchestra was in readiness, the late-comers were being ushered to their seats, the cast and chorus took their places behind the curtain, and everyone awaited the maestro's signal. At eight-fifteen on the dot, the curtain was drawn, and the audience settled into their seats, knowing that the performance would be one long to be remembered.

Raymond Sawyer as the pirate king, and John Kelly as Samuel proved to be hardy and fierce pirates. Richard Hosmer, the Sergeant of Police, opposed them with the help of his energetic force. Mabel and Fred, the romantic leads, were thrillingly portrayed by Cynthia Scribner and Calvin Tainter. The comical Major-General Stanley amused the audience with his captivating antics. Nancy MacVeigh as Edith, and Jeanne De Loye as Kate showed us how lovely and refreshing the maidens were in the days of old. Last but not least, Virginia Ranti played the part of Ruth, the piratical maid of all work, and displayed exceptional dramatic ability.

In addition to the untiring efforts of Mr. Gorman and the music department, mention should be made of the work of the following chairmen and their committees: Everett Gleason, the capable general chairman; Fred Thrane, chairman of publicity; Dorothy Calnan, chairman of the program committee; Robert Halford, chairman of tickets; Robert Herd and his stage crew, and Evelyn Denno and Donald Boice, chairmen of doormen and ushers. Congratulations also go to the artists who contributed paintings and posters, to the able and conscientious accompanist, Barbara Barrett, and to everyone who gave such excellent assistance and advice.

BEHIND THE FOOTLIGHTS

Mr. Gorman was lecturing Jack Kelly for not speaking loudly enough. He concluded his sermon with, "Think of that poor fellow in the last seat in the balcony who paid fifty cents for his ticket. He wants to hear, too!"

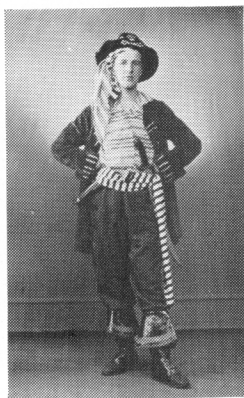

"Yes," agreed Jack, "I know how it is. I sat there during the other two operas myself!"

Then there was the time when Mr. Gorman shouted to a certain soprano to kiss a certain tenor. The soprano replied that she could do much better at night . . .

Mr. Gorman was taking inventory of the cast when he noticed a member missing.

"Where's the Sergeant of Police?" he shouted.

"Oh, he's being held for detention," timidly replied one of the chorus.

The Drum Majorettes!

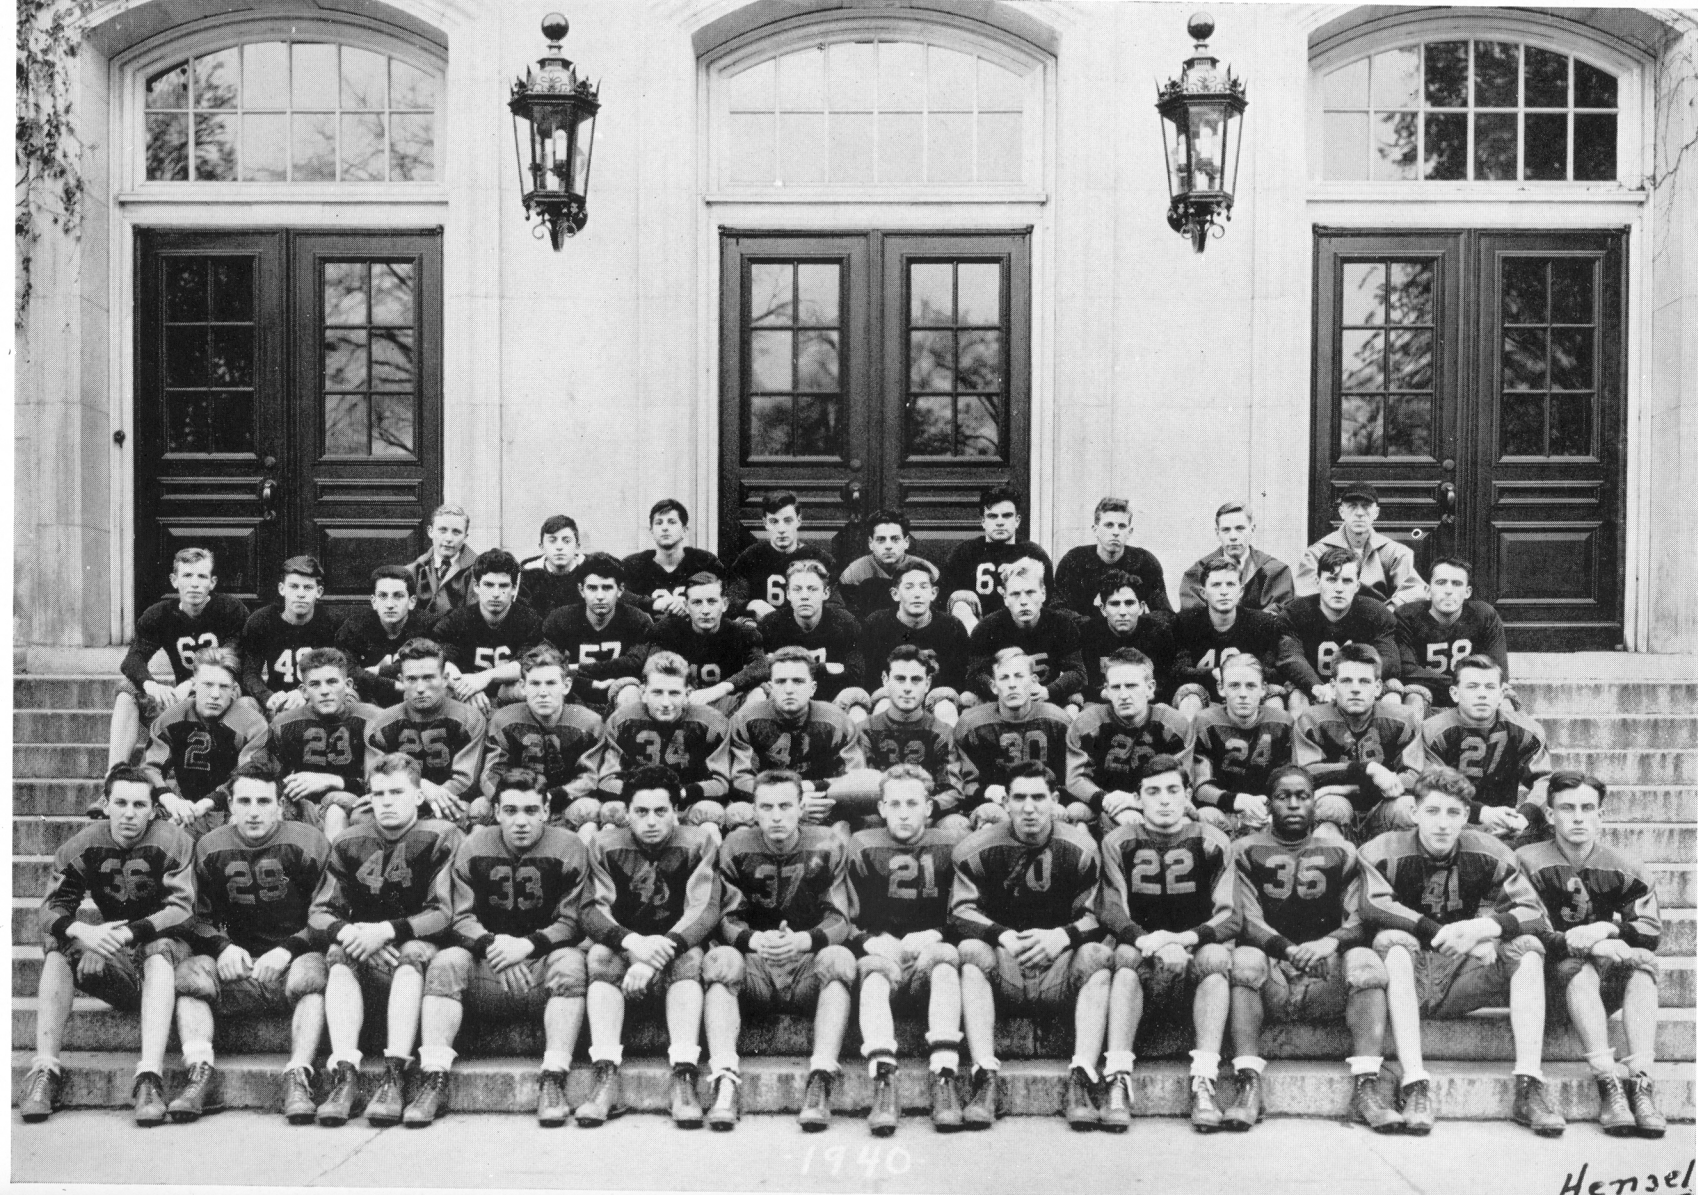

“ABOUT FACE! Forward march!” These are commands which the majority of us could execute fairly well; but if we were confronted by the shrill blast of a whistle and the upward sweep of a baton, we would probably be entirely at sea. Such is not the case with these eight high-stepping lassies who lead our parades and perform their intricate evolutions before delighted and admiring audiences.

Organized in the autumn of 1940, the drum majorettes performed first at the Drury-Pittsfield football game in October. Since then, they have been a striking feature of our athletic contests. Their performances have been breath-taking to watch, and the dexterity with which they manipulate their batons is really amazing. Three cheers for this latest addition to the sports arena of P. H. S.

THE 1940 FOOTBALL SQUAD

The Football Season 1940

THE 1940 grid squad ran, stumbled, and crawled through their season with no major calamities. No one was actually slain on the field of combat. The team was literally slaughtered, and we do mean slaughtered, by their scheduled opponents.

We started out in what seemed like a blaze of glory—almost. A powerful Greenfield team nipped us by one mere conversion, and the Springfield Tech—P. H. S. game ended scoreless. But then Agawam softened us up via the Pisano route, 28 to 0. After that, less powerful teams left us with goose eggs.

Consolation! Though the scrappy St. Joe boys battered at our very gates, we held them to a scoreless tie.

Let's hope Coach Stewart has better luck in 1941.

Ski Review

ON JANUARY 25, 1941, ten boys, selected practically at random, represented Pittsfield High School in the Berkshire Interscholastic Ski Meet. The boys did an excellent job, skiing against such prep schools as Deerfield (which won the meet), Hotchkiss, and Berkshire. The P. H. S. A team managed to finish fourth in the combined, and the B team a good fifth.

The next meet, February 22, was a Triangle Meet with Berkshire School and South Kent, on Berkshire's home grounds. Ed Stepnowski had two beautiful runs in the slalom, and won that event. Malc Carsley won the downhill on the Elbow Trail, and Walt Kubica finished a surprisingly good fourth in the cross-country. Pittsfield stumbled in the cross-country as Berkshire knew the course. However, some of our langlaufers did well, and we lost by only nine points to Berkshire.

On February 28, in a meet with Darrow School in Lebanon, P. H. S. gained the first nine places in the downhill race! Carsley won the race, followed closely by Stepnowski and Ed Jadatz.

The A team, chosen on March 15 competed with Adams High at the State Forest. P. H. S. came out on top, although Adams took first honors in the downhill and slalom. Carsley of Pittsfield took second in both events and won the combined. Stepnowski finished fourth, with a good downhill run; Bill Eagan finished fifth; Wes Ashley, sixth; and Ed Bissaillon eighth.

Viewed as a whole the season for the P. H. S. Ski Team was a most satisfactory one.

Archery

ARCHERY, always a popular sport at Pittsfield High School, aroused more than usual interest this year. A large number of girls from all the classes enrolled in the archery tournament, with the honors for the highest score going to a newcomer, Jean Hearn of the sophomore class. The senior star bowman was Doris Lovejoy, who placed second with a score of 241 points. During her high school course, Doris has been active in sports, having played field hockey, volley ball, baseball, and bowling. In her senior year she played guard on the 1941 girls'

Outstanding Athletes of the Class of '41

IT is only fitting and proper that we should mention the outstanding athletes who have made a name for themselves as well as for Pittsfield High School.

Jimmie Burghardt, co-captain of the 1940 team, has been one of the prominent stars on our football team during his three high school years.

Matthew Rozanski, the other co-captain of our football team, shines in baseball as well as football and basket ball.

Carl Heidel is an outstanding "three letter" man. He was a valuable member of the football and baseball teams, but his greatest ability is his superb pitching for the baseball team.

Everett Gleason, captain of the 1941 track team, was also a flash on the football team as a point gatherer.

Joe Masterson, a flashy forward on our basket ball team, has helped lead our team to victory.

Earl Turner has had offers from a number of big league baseball teams. We're proud to have him as a member of our class.

"Bud" Francis is a "slam-bang, rip roaring" basket ball and baseball star.

Bill Eagen represented the high school with outstanding performances in a number of interscholastic ski meets.

Donald Gabree made a fine showing for himself as well as for the school as a defense man on the hockey team.

Joe Tagliente was a reliable man on the football team as a tackle.

Doris Lovejoy and Agnes Cullen are the sport queens of the senior class. For their remarkable abilities they each received a monogram, which is the highest award given.

IT DIDN'T "JUST HAPPEN"

NEW PROCESSES, new products and new customers seldom develop out of thin air. They are the result of organized execution—the cumulative effort of chemists, engineers, salesmen, toolmakers, machinists and others—all working toward the same objective.

The growth of General Electric's Plastics Department didn't "just happen." It came about through the desire and ability of its workers to develop and perfect G-E plastic products.

Many employees of the G-E Plastics Department are graduates of Pittsfield High School and to this institution, General Electric is grateful for the manner in which it always has prepared its students.

To the members of the graduating class, General Electric extends its congratulations. It looks forward to the day when some of them, too, will be making their contribution to plastics progress in Pittsfield.
